1Y readers can:

- Remember and use a sentence pattern to "read" the rest of a book.
- Figure out the one word that changes on each page by reading the main idea of the picture.

2Y readers can:

- Point to each word as they say it.
- Use the spaces to separate words.
- Figure out the one new word that changes on each page by reading the main idea of the picture.

3Y readers can:

- Put their mouth in position to make the first letter sound of the new word on each page.
- Say a word that matches the first letter sound of a word and makes sense with the picture.

1Y-3Y Books

Yellow books have a repeated pattern that students can identify and hold while "reading" a book.

During this time, it is also helpful to read aloud to your child.

Example
Good Night, Gorilla
by Peggy Rathmann

Practice the 1G power word list to help your child learn words they may see in 1Y-3Y books. They must know these power words at flash speed.

In order to transition to 1G, readers must:

- Recognize 1G power words at flash speed in and out of context.
- Demonstrate basic knowledge of one-to-one letter-sound correspondence
- Read with purpose and understanding
- Ask and answer questions about key details in the text
